Opening

The regular meeting of the Hinesburg Conservation Commission (HCC) was called to order at 7:05 pm on June 22, 2009 at the Hinesburg Town Hall by Matthew Probasco.

Present: Charles Kogge, Melissa Levy, Bill Marks, Matthew Probasco, Alex Weinhagen, Gretchen Alexander

Absent: Dave Hirth, Nancy Plunkett

Visit from Gretchen Alexander

Gretchen Alexander, a river scientist with the Agency of Natural Resources Rivers Program, came to share with us a Fluvial Erosion Hazards presentation, which outlined the fluvial erosion hazards on major surface waters in Hinesburg along with ways of preventing such hazards. A future public education project was discussed around knowing your flood hazards.

Greenspace Plan

We discussed with Alex the next steps for the Greenspace Plan, including assembling the maps and making any necessary revisions. Once we have assembled the maps, made any necessary revisions and reviewed the entire plan one more time, we will have Peter and Alex to review it prior to getting it ready for the Planning Commission.

Miscellaneous

Those present voted to decline to join the Large Habitat Study being done by Jesse Mohr, due to cost. Those present also voted to rejoin the Association of Vermont Conservation Commissions.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:00 PM.
